Restrictions: None

Extent: 45 cubic feet

Dates: 1945-1953; Bulk Dates: 1945-1953

Biography:

Fred T. Mitchell was born in Clarksdale, Mississippi on July 4, 1891. He received his early education in both Shelton and Eastbutchie, Mississippi before attending Mississippi A & M College. He graduated from A & M in 1913, where he was a member of the George Rifles and was the editor of the 1913 Reveille yearbook. After conducting agricultural work in Panama and Costa Rica, Mitchell returned to the United States where he married Fannie Lou Short, of Meridian, in 1920.

For many years, Dr. Mitchell taught in the Arkansas public school system and he was soon named as a member of the Arkansas Department of Public Instruction. In 1927, Mitchell received his Master's degree from Peabody and, in 1931 he was awarded his doctorate from Cornell. That year he joined the staff at Michigan State College where he was named an associate professor of education. He later was named Dean of Men at Michigan State, until he accepted the position as President of Mississippi State College in 1945.

During his eight year term as president, Mississippi State saw unprecedented enrollment, building, and expansion. In July 1953, Mitchell began to experience health issues and he relinquished his position to Ben Hilbun. Mitchell died in December 1953.
